NEW LIGHTWEIGHT LOOKS FOR MATCH IN NEW YORK

PADDY O'HERN

New York.—Paddy O'Hern, a lightweight pugilist from Montana, has arrived in New York and is looking for matches. He announces a willingness to tackle any good boy in his class, and he hopes to add to his reputation until he can get a go with Freddie Welsh. O'Hern is twenty-one years old and weighs 133 pounds. In addition to his ability as a fighter he has been a sporting writer for Montana papers. He is under the management of Henry Irslinger, the man who brought out Tommy McCarty.

26 ENTRIES MADE FOR GOLF TROPHY

Pairings Drawn and Hour for Play Announced for Sunday Morning.

Twenty-six golfers are entered for the play for the Mexico Country club permanent trophy, the silver salver, a competition which carries with it the championship of the club for match play. The name of the winner of each competition is engraved on the trophy which is held by the club.

The first round will be played Sunday morning. In view of the fact that only twenty-six entered there was no qualifying round but for the first round a number of byes were drawn instead.

The pairings for the competition have been drawn and the hour for the start announced. Players must be at the first tee at the time stated under penalty of disqualification. Pairs and time of starting are as follows:

EVERY BALL TEAM HAS ITS OWN HOODOO

"If Walter can get through this series without being defeated, he is liable to break the world's record. I'm afraid of this St. Louis bunch, though, for it always gives Walter plenty of trouble." It was Captain George McBride of the Washington Club doing the talking. We were discussing Walter Johnson's chances to better his record of sixteen straight victories. The St. Louis Club was just finishing its fielding practice. It was a seventh-place aggregation, and looked none too formidable, yet the Washington team feared the coming game when Walter Johnson did the pitching. The greatest pitcher in the world was to face a seventh place team, yet his teammates were dubious as to the result.

Early in the season of 1912 Rube Marquard of the New York Giants started the baseball world by winning nineteen straight games. Starting with the opening game of the season, he went to July 8 before suffering defeat. Then, with a chance to establish a world's record, he failed in his twentieth start. On July 3, the day of Marquard's nineteenth victory, Walter Johnson started his winning streak at the expense of the New York Americans. An August 23 he beat Detroit, 8 to 1, making his sixteenth straight win. St. Louis, a seventh-place team, and New York, a hopeless tallender, were the next two clubs scheduled to play Washington. Most critics figured it would be easy for Johnson to beat these two weak second division clubs. That would make his record eighteen straight, and put it up to him to beat Philadelphia if he would equal Marquard's record.

No soft spots were picked for Johnson in piling up his victories, or he would never have been forced to face the situation that confronted him in the game of August 26. In the seventh inning, with the score a tie—2 to 2—down, and runners on first and second, Johnson was sent to the rescue of Tom Hughes. A wild pitch moved the runners up a base, the next batter fanned, and, with two strikes on him, Pete Compton came through with a short single that scored two runs, ultimately winning the game, 4 to 3. It was contended that the defeat should be charged to Hughes, but President Johnson ruled otherwise. Two days later, just to show there was no fluke about the other victory, St. Louis beat Johnson, 2 to 1, in a game in which he worked the entire route. The fears of Captain McBride expressed prior to the series had been realized.

It is indeed strange how certain teams appear to have the "goat" of other clubs. The St. Louis team, no matter how low it was in the race, has always been able to come to life and make trouble for Walter Johnson. It was the Browns who stopped Johnson, after he had gone 56 1-2 innings without allowing the opposition a run. Most any time he faces the Mount City boys he is sure of a battle.

The Boston Red Sox have always been mighty troublesome for the Athletics. If the six other teams in the American League were as easy for Boston as the Athletics, that team would always be a most dangerous contender. Last season no club in the American league was easier for Boston than Connie Mack's sterling aggregation. Near the close of the season the Athletics were scheduled to play a four-game series at Boston. At the time the Philadelphia team had a twelve-game lead. No one would have thought Mack's boys felt any concern over the series with Boston, since the season had only about

WELL KNOWN HYMNS SUNG ON THE MARCH

Correspondence of the Associated Press. Dunkirk, Nov. 20.—The British soldiers' repertoire of marching songs includes two hymns which share tonotably popularity with the "Marseillaise" and "Tipperary." They are "Onward Christian Soldiers" and "Oh, Come All Ye Faithful." The one thing which the soldier at the front demands in a song is marchy rhythm.

HER FACT.

"Yes, I tried the experiment of an office girl instead of an office boy. She didn't whistle or smoke, but she failed to please the office force." "Why was that?" "She could never learn to go out and get the correct score."—Kansas City Journal.

TWO BOXING BOUTS DATED FOR TUESDAY

Kid Levigne-Martinez Set for 10 Rounds—Jim Smith to Meet Castro.

Two good boxing bouts will be pulled off at Welton's on the night of December 15. Kid Levigne, who is known to the fight fraternity of the capital, will go on for ten rounds with P. Martinez, known as the "Steel Man." This bout is set down for ten rounds.

Jim Smith, the old reliable, will meet Horatio Castro in a twelve round go. The management has placed two main bouts on the bill in order that the public may be sure of getting a run for its money. This idea was followed in view of the fact that various bouts have been staged here in which the verdict came so quickly after the going sounded that the spectators hardly got into the building before it was all over.

Kid Lee, who has come to the capital from the border will go on in a four round exhibition. Lee will challenge the winner of the Martinez-Levigne bout and believes that the victor will give him a chance. For this reason he is anxious to appear in order that the public may get a line on his work.

MIXED FOURSOME SET TENNIS TODAY ON FOR NEW YEAR'S DAY Y. M. C. A. GROUNDS

To Consist of One Round of Eighteen Holes at Ordinary Medal Play. Courts to Be Open for Play During Morning and Afternoon.

A handicap mixed foursome at medal play is a special feature which has been arranged for New Year's day at the Mexico Country club. The entry list already has been posted on the club bulletin board and it is expected that the feature will prove popular as it has been many months since a club golf competition has been arranged for ladies and gentlemen.

The mixed foursome for January 1 will consist of one round of eighteen holes to be played by a lady and gentleman, each playing the same ball and alternating strokes. The penalty for playing out of turn will be two strokes and the partner must play the next stroke.

Ordinary medal play rules will govern this competition. There will be prizes for the winner and runner up and also for the best gross score. The entry list will close at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon of Sunday, December 27.

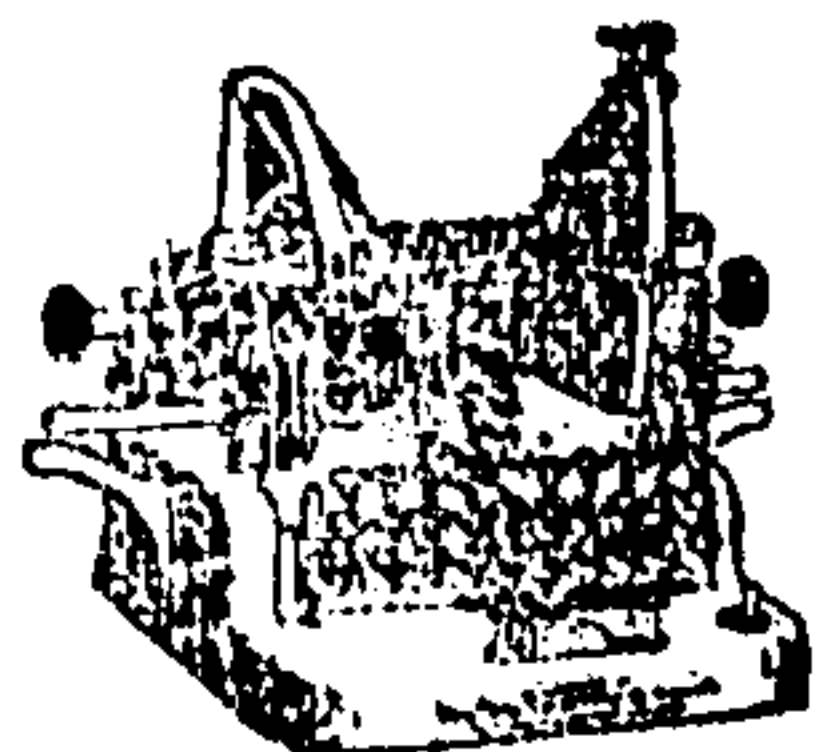

The Y. M. C. A. Tennis committee has planned a busy day for the Association courts beginning with nine o'clock today. All Association players are invited to take part in the tennis matches. As many of the regular tournament matches will be played off as possible but there will be plenty of opportunity for practice matches.

Arrangements have been made to serve light refreshments on the grounds and members are invited to bring their families and lady friends. The courts will be open for both morning and afternoon playing.
